county Republican committee; and H. I. Cumnings, secretary of the state Republican committee, unanimously infellow feels so comfortable and safe.

Cumnings, secretary of the state Republican committee, unanimously indersed Robert Houston, colored, for jamitor of the house chamber. Then they adjourned.

The caucus was held in the courtroom of Judge George G. Armstrong at S o clock Thursday night, it was attended by each of the sterling statesmen who comprise the Salt Lake delegation, not to mention the omnipresent Fred Price.

The purpose of the meeting was to indorse for positions in the organization of the coming house such stalwarts as were worthy of reward for faithful service to the Republican party in Utah. The one man whose Republicanism could not be questioned whom the delegation decided to indorse was that man who had been a Republican since emancipation, the tried and true, noble sterling "Bob" Houston—rone other than he.

Sifting the Candidates.

Sifting the Candidates.

For the rest of the Republicans who had applied for patronage, who had applied for patronage, who had applied for patronage, who had modestly sought reward for 'passing the word,' whose applications had the approval of the Republican organization, as exemptified by J. U. Eldredge, Jr. Fred Price and Harry Joseph, a committee was appointed to sift the applicants still further, to consult the camissian records and to decide on who should be selected to grace the house chamber. An offort was made to have this committee include Eldredge and Price, but this was voted down, much to the discomfiture of those two political leaders, and they will act only in an aivisory appeity. The committee as named by Chairman Eldredge, who presided at the caucus, consists of T. L. Holman of Bingham, chairman; D. A. Ekman and M. J. Eardley.

In addition to Houston, the committee will mame half a dozen candidates for positions in the house from Salt Lake county, and the delegation is expected to indonse these. Also the committee will recommend some candidate for speaker, to be indersed by Salt Lake county. The patronage sifting committee will meet this (Friday) eight at 6 o'clock at the Wilson hotel, to decide on who shall be indorsed, and the recommendation will be submitted to the Salt Lake county and the delegation on Saturday morning at Fried Frice's Young Men's Republican the two presented to the county of the house majority at the etty and county building on Saturday anglet.

Speakership Contest.

The announcement made Thursday of the candidacy of William Allison of Ogden rather complicates the speakership fight. The candidates at present are E. W. Robinson of Logan, speaker of the last house: Harry B. Cole of Salt Lake. J. W. Wooton of American Fork and William Allison of Ogden. Of these Robinson is still in the lead, and his supporters declare that he will have twenty-seven votes on the first ballot, which will be enough to cleet him, with votes for Spare. Salt Lake is about evenly divided on the speakership fight. Five are for Robinson and five are opposed to him. It is possible that the opponents of in its possible that the opponents of Robinson in this county may secure another vote against Robinson, which would be enough to control the caucus. In that event it is probable that Cole will withdraw and Salt Lake would decide for Allison.

Senators Resolve.

Prier to the Houston caucus of the representatives four of the five senators from Salt Lake county met and almost immediately adjourned. Benner X. Smith was the absent senator. The senators agreed to disagree. It was decided that the Salt Lake delegation in the senate would not indorse anyone as a delegation, but that each senator of the sixteen in the majority should be permitted to name one employee of the senate and that the rest should be selected at large. In talking over the situation the senators for the most part indorsed the views of the county committee that persons not already holding public positions should be given the preference over those who had such places, providing qualifications were equal. Heber L. Cummings, the only person spoken of for secretary of the senate, is chief deputy in the office of the secretary of state, and it is possible that the senators may prefer someone for this position other than a state employee. Mrs. Cummings is a candidate for malling clerk, but her candidacy is not meeting with the favor of the Salt Lake county senators, some of whom oppose following the example of the county commissioners and the federal bounch in making the public offices. of the can be considered to the county commissioners and the federal bunch in making the public offices places for family reunions.

Did Not Know of Robbery.

Up to the time of the confession of Henry it was not known that the Spring-ville postoffice had been robbed. This probably was because of the care which Henry took in removing $15 worth of stamps from the office. He removed some flower pots from a back window and after raising the window got inside and opened the safe, which was on day combination. He did not take all the stamps, removing only a few sheets from the bottom of the pile. He got away with them and as the stamp supply had not been checked up the robbery was not known. In leaving the place, Henry locked the safe, put down the window and replaced the flower pots.
